

Postscript ~ Purpose & SoleNumbers

written by Rev. Janice Brown, Spiritual Warrior and Intellectual Lateral Thinker

“SoleNumbers is an aspect of your being that will become vitally important as you come into resonance with your being.”

~ Janice Brown

SoleNumbers is not only who you are in the moment, but also what you are here to do. When you understand this distinction it will never fail you. You are here to live a very specific life. There is something that you are meant to do that no one else can do and so each time you come into an awareness of the SoleNumbers influence, understand that it is moving you in a new direction.

So, what do you do with SoleNumbers?

You allow the understandings to grow and you will find that the SoleNumbers energy has a powerful influence over the way you behave. But the way you look at this is in a slightly different context, look at it like this...What am I doing now, that I could be doing differently?

As you begin to weave and fold these understandings into your experience you will begin to see new ways and understandings for yourself. And what is most important at this juncture of your understanding, is to know who you are being in the moment.

If you are being in alignment with your SolePath then that is wonderful news. If you are being in alignment with your Governing SoleNumber, that is also good news. If you are being in resonance with neither of these aspects of self, then who do you THINK you are?

When you understand who you are and what you do, then anything else is there for some other reason that you have put in your path to explore. That's when it is helpful to know your SoleNumbers.

Look at your SoleNumbers with an abundance of curiosity and think what am I meant to be doing in this situation? As you start to explore each and every facet of your life, you will begin to know that there are opportunities you have never discovered in their fullness, and that is the beginning of a very dynamic life of purpose. And purpose we would say is the cherry on top of all cakes for all beings, and all beings wish to know what it is they are here to do.

And that is the gift we give you with each and every exploration of your life and your self. The opportunity to know yourself in such a way that you could never see your path forward without thinking, "This is exactly what I am meant to do."

And so each and every time you have a new opportunity to understand the self, each and every experience is a new knowing, and each new knowing comes with an assortment of possibilities. Should I try this or that? When you know who you are, you will know what you do in purpose each time you step forward. You will be watching yourself do it through the filter of your SoleNumbers. And that is a gift beyond reason.

It is a dynamic exploration of the self at the highest level of knowing and that is what we call purpose. So simply understand that you are far more than you appear to be. Far more. And that is a triumph worth knowing. It will always hold you in resonance in your formation as an energetic being of high worth and knowing, as you begin to transform your life in understandings of the SolePath body of work.

It is so.

~ Janice Brown